Death of a Distinguished Jew.

The death is announced of Mr. H. N. Solomon, of Edmonton, near London, in his eighty-sixth year. He was one of the founders of the Jews' free school in 1817, of which Sir Nathaniel de Rothschild is now the pre sident, and in which 2000 children ace now daily instructed. During the whole of his life Mr. Solomon devoted himself with untiring energy to the race. Descended from Mordecai Jafknown as the "Levush," Mr. Solomon was proud of his ancestor, and he himself translated the Jewish prayer book into English. As a Hebrew scholar he was acknowledged te admitted, the best English aurhority on the Talmud. ### Timber Exhaustation. U.S. Economist

The now well-known fact is that we are rapidly exhausting, largely by reckless and improvident waste, our supplies of timber in the north ern States. The demand for it increases at the rate of 30 per cent. a year, and even those who are interested in high prices and immediate sales of what is left of it, admit that in twenty years or sooner, building timber will be extremely scarce, and that in many parts of the country, yet supplied in part from their own soil, it will have entirely disappeared. It is stated on good authority that more than 65 000 esof over $350,000,000 a year, are engaged in the United States in manufacturing articles entirely from wood. in addition to more than 8.000,000 persons partly employed on wood or of similar import. using that material yearly to the value of $6,000,000. the suppression of polygamy is urged. Existing statutes for the punishment of this odious crime have been contemptuously violated ever since their enactment. Indeed the law has been very rarely enforced, and is practically a dead letter. The Mormons have been recently peopling Idaho in large numbers, as well as other western territories. He calls attention to the difficulty under Mormon usages of making proof of polygamy, and suggests a modification of the law of evidence, so that a wife may tes-tify against her husband. He calls attention to the inadequacy of the present clerical force in the office of the Commissioners, with which t is estimated that six years will be required to adjudicate the cases now pending. He recommends an increase of the force. Speaking of the arrears of pension act, he says that a sum so enormous must be expended by the Government under it, that it hould admonish Congress and the Executive to give cautious consideration to any similar projects in the future. That efficiency of appointments should be based upon fitis not open to dispute, but how such fitness is to be ascertained is the question which excites discustions and mentions objections to the British system. He deplores the continual decline of the merchant marine of this country, and sug-
